RTM Partners With The SRR 2010

The Sustainable Risk Rationalisation Conference 2010 is an International Learning's Experience organised and managed by OTEK Australia. The SRR 2010 will be held at Melbourne Convention and Exhibition Centre in Melbourne, Australia, and encourages international attendance.

OTEK is delighted to announce its international partnership in the successful delivery of this event with RTM Communications, Inc. of Alexandria, VA, USA at www.rtmcomm.com.

RTM Communications, Inc. is an American organisation which has been producing conferences in the environmental risk management and sustainable development arena for over 24 years. RTM has developed a reputation for the caliber of its programs with the industry's top speakers and sponsors, and the excellent organisation of these conferences.

Lead by Dean Jeffery Telego of RTM, the conferences are well known both in the US and internationally.

Mr. Minear, OTEK National Marketing Manager – the SRR 2010 conference organiser – said the huge benefit of this strategic alliance is that the SRR 2010 will now attract further international delegates and speakers who represent worldwide corporate entities.

“We are looking forward to the prospects and ideas that Australian professionals may offer to American environmental industry leaders. It is a worthwhile investment to attend and we are enthusiastic to visit Down Under”, said Mr. Telego, President of RTM Communications, Inc. and Executive Co-Director of the Environmental Bankers Association.
